What bit made you laugh? (If any!) Why did you laugh?

What kind of level of agreement do we expect or demand from friends? Is it different for fellow Christians in our own church?

Is disagreement okay? How does social media makes things worse? Or better?

Jesus seems comfortable with a high level of misunderstanding and discord. Should that be our standard? Why / Why not?

How do the gospels portray disagreements between the disciples?

Are the parodies in the Gospel According to A Sitcom Writer helpful? Do they put our own disagreements into context?

What happens when we're offended? Jesus offended people and knew he was doing it? How does that affect our expectations of offence? Is it a sin to be offended? Or can it be a good thing?
