'Embracing Justice' Discussion Questions

Session 3: Building Communities of Justice

Israel's laws are linked to their stories and vision; what kind of story do the laws of your country tell?

Are there any laws in the Old Testament you find difficult? Why are they challenging today? Would any of our laws or practices today be challenging to ancient Israelites?

How can you distinguish between justice and revenge? What might Jubilee laws for today look like?

How do you decide what causes or projects to contribute to?

What parts of the worldwide Church are you well aware of, and what parts might you need to find out more about? Could you commit yourself to praying regularly for a part of the world you know little about right now?

How does this story touch on the themes emerging from our study so far?

How does this story connect with you personally and with your church community? What gives you hope in this story?

What questions would you want to ask? How might you pray?

Have you, or someone close to you, had an experience of justice denied, or impossible justice? How does this make you feel? How do you pray (or not) about it?

Do you think it is always possible or right to forgive?
